SOL Pro Annual Management Plan Add-Ons

Annual management programs are put in place with the objective of creating a healthy, balanced, and beautiful ecosystem that meets your unique goals. In addition to comprehensive management necessities, stakeholders can further customize their maintenance plans with additional solutions that get them even closer to their long-term goals.

Oxygenation treatments

Innovative oxygenation treatments can help encourage circulation and/or increase dissolved oxygen levels, helping to improve waterbody health and aesthetics. Native plantings Beneficial buffers composed of native, deep-rooted flowering plants can make a significant impact on water quality by stabilizing shorelines and filtering nutrient-rich stormwater runoff.

Shoreline debris removal

Deep-rooted plants serve as beneficial buffers and sediment stabilization tools around lakes and ponds, but they require proper upkeep to remain effective. Routine trimming and the professional removal of accumulated trash and debris will help maximize shoreline health and improve water quality

Mechanical removal of aquatic weeds

Nuisance weeds are known to impede swimming, obstruct boat motors, and snare fish hooks Moreover, they can pose a significant danger to recreationers. Mechanical harvesters and hydro-rakes are an effective and eco-friendly way to remove nuisance plant species and deposit them off-site.

Balanced fisheries programs

Whether you own a community pond or a private fishery, a variety of management services can help maximize your habitat. Fish stocking and strategically placed fish feeders are a great first step to encourage successful fishing and maintain a healthy, dynamic ecosystem.

Mosquito control

No matter where you live or the type of waterbody you own, mosquitoes can pose a problem. Proactive management using biological solutions can help deter these pests. Mosquitofish can also be stocked to consume mosquito larva before they become adults.
